Hello to All Members and Friends!

Hope this finds you all well and happy.

Wonderful news (I hope you'll agree!). We are excited to announce after her amazing season at the Edinburgh Fringe, Joanne Hartstone has just confirmed London performances of her award-winning tour de force on the life of Muriel Matters. To be staged in the beautiful Streatham, only 2 shows. So don't miss out – and please, tell your friends.

There have been some brilliant reviews and great audience feedback, so well worth a night out.

So many people have been learning about Muriel and her incredible life and work over the past month. Joanne is now taking the story home to the place where a lot of it happened.

Looking forward to hearing your reviews.
